Livery Yards will self-certify, through the use of the ABRS+ membership application form, that they meet the criteria for membership of the ABRS+. Livery Yards that have self-certified may use the description 'Certified Livery Yard'.

Livery Yards may wish additionally to be accredited by the ABRS+. Accreditation provides independent assurance that the criteria for membership of the ABRS+ have been met. Livery Yards that have been accredited may use the description 'Approved Livery Yard'.

A Certified Livery Yard may seek 'Approved' status through accreditation at any time. It does not need to be requested at the point of initial membership application.

The ABRS+ also offers, at Livery Yard owner or manager request, advisory visits. These visits enable the Livery Yard to benefit from best practise in safety, employee and client management and in horse welfare.
