SEND Information Report

SENCO: Mrs Fiona Hargreaves

The SEND Code of Practice (2014) defines special educational needs in the following terms:

'A child has a SEN if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision to be made for him or her.'

1	What will happen if I or a teacher in school thinks my child has a learning difficulty/disability and requires special educational needs?	 The first point of contact for yourself or a teacher is your child's form tutor. You can contact him/her by: putting a note in your child's planner asking for the tutor to contact you; phoning the school and leaving a message; writing a letter or an email (Staff forename.staff surname@caistorgrammar.com)
2	How will the school respond to such a concern?	Your child's form tutor will listen carefully to the reasons why you or the teacher feels your child may have special educational needs. Information from all of your child's subject teachers will be collated and then considered by the Special Educational Needs Coordinator (SENCO) in liaison with the tutor and Head of Section. The form tutor will let you know the outcome. If your child is referred for assessment, you will be contacted by the SENCO either by phone, email or letter in order to find out more detailed, specific information regarding your child's individual needs. The SENCO will meet with your child and arrange to carry out an individual assessment, which will include gaining your child's views and experiences.
3	How will the school decide if my child needs extra support?	The SENCO will contact you to discuss the assessment. This may be via a phone call or email. If you feel that you would like a face-to-face discussion, a short meeting will be arranged in school or via Teams. The SENCO, together with yourself and your child, will decide whether he/she needs extra support in school. Decisions will be made based on: Teachers' observations Monitoring data (collected and analysed every term) Discussion with your child Discussions with you (as detailed above) Specialist Teacher Assessment (external), if required Cognitive Abilities Test data assessments carried out be the Learning Support Team

		If your child's needs cannot be met by quality first teaching and they require additional support, you will be informed by the SENCo and his/her name will be placed on the school SEN support register.
4	What will the school	Students on the SEN register are allocated a key 'worker'. This will be a do to support my	member of the Learning Support Team. The key worker, in liaison with you child?	and your child, will write a 'Student Passport' which will describe your child's needs. It will include advice for teachers on how they can support your child in class and will be distributed to your child's teachers, tutor and head of section.
		A plan will be drawn up as to how your child will be best supported in school.
		We will have a flexible approach based on the needs and views of your child.
		In Key Stage 3, your child may access additional support such as:
		Targeted support depending on individual needs (with learning)
		support advisor/keyworker)
		Homework support
		Access arrangements (e.g. extra time) for examinations
		In Key Stage 4 additional support may include:
		Mentoring by peers and teaching staff
		Targeted support depending on individual needs (with learning)
		support advisor/key worker)
		Small group programmes working on study skills and time management
		Catch-up clubs
		Additional revision sessions
		Access arrangements for examinations
		In Key Stage 5 additional support may include:
		Study support sessions
		Targeted support depending on individual needs (with learning)
		support advisor/key worker)
		Access arrangements for A Level examinations
		Your child's progress will be monitored by their key worker and the support they access will be reviewed termly by the SENCo. At the end of each term you will be sent a review of your child's progress and have the opportunity to amend and change their student passport. If outside agencies are involved, we will work closely with them to ensure the best outcome for your child.
5	Who will support	Every member of staff in school has a responsibility to support all students my child in school	effectively. Training is given to staff on a regular basis and resources are

		 Students with SEN may be offered an 'early' interview with an independent Careers Advisor if felt appropriate by yourself, your child, their tutor or the key worker. Transition from school: Your child will take part in all the transition arrangements provided for all students such as Careers Evenings, support in writing a CV/personal statement and individual interview with the Headmaster regarding the next step in their education. Students are also actively encouraged to look at what other alternatives are on offer to meet their specific requirements. In addition to the above, the school may give your child additional support with the transition to college or university, based on their individual needs.
15	How can I be involved in supporting my child?	 We highly value the support that you can offer in helping your child with their education. We would like to encourage you to: Check your child's planner regularly and use it to liaise with their tutor and subject teachers as necessary. Attend all parents' evening and SEN review meetings Support your child with homework if needed. Inform us of any changes regarding your child's family or personal circumstances. Communicate any concerns you may have to your child's form tutor or key worker. Offer other support relating to your child's targets as part of the review process Become involved in the wider life of the school e.g. support school trips, join Friends of the School
16	Who should I contact if I am not happy about the SEN provision my child has?	Complaints about SEN provision in our school should be made to the SENCo in the first instance. You will then be referred to the school's complaints policy. If your child has a disability, you have the right to make a disability discrimination claim to the first-tier SEND tribunal if you believe that our school or the LA has discriminated against your child. You can make a claim about alleged discrimination regarding: • Exclusions • Provision of education and associated services • Making reasonable adjustments, including the provision of auxiliary aids and services
